TAKAPUNA BEACH TRIP

On the last week of Term 1 the children from Rooms 13, 14 and 15 went to Takapuna beach where they explored the rock pools left behind by the tide in the volcanic rock. Here is some Room 15 children's writing about the day.

I saw a black crab and I saw starfish in the rock pools. I saw shells and the ocean.

Rock pools are pools with heaps of rock and you have to wear shoes or you will hurt your feet. Sea creatures hide because predators eat little sea creatures like fish and sea worms, and I saw some shells.
By Blayze

Rock pools are slippery because the ocean came to cover the rock. We found starfish and cats Eyes, and a fish bone and shells. We saw a crab arm and we found seaweed. The rock pools have holes in them and the sea creatures hide in them so animals like seagulls do not see them.
By Arin

Takapuna rock pools are from this island. This island is a volcano. The rock pools have been washed away from the volcano. First it was lava then it turned to rock pools. The creatures are hiding from the predators.

Rock pools are rocks that come from a volcano. The lava has dried and it is hard. It turns into stone. They have holes in them and there are little creatures in the stone because if seagulls eat them if they don't stay still. At Takapuna Beach I collected lots of them and my friend Samantha helped me find some. I found four starfish by myself and I saw four crabs under a rock. They were all in a group.
By Charlie-Rose

Takapuna rock pools are from a volcano and some sea creatures came there to live in the rock pools so their predators can't eat them. The tides make water and the water goes to the rocks and makes a rock pool. A rock pool is good to hide creatures. The creatures I found hiding were a few seashells.

Takapuna rock pools are something that comes from the volcano. When they blast off the lava comes down with the rocks and it cools down in the ocean then it washes up to the shore. Then little sea creatures that come from the ocean hide under the rocks at Takapuna beach. We went to the slippery slidy rock pools with lots of little creatures under the rocks from the volcano.
